

The Peter Messenger Memorial Fund

Former student, Peter Messenger, who sadly died in his early twenties, was a very talented musician. His family set-up the Memorial Fund to financially assist Ellesmere College music scholars with their music studies at Summer Schools.

Each year, students are invited to submit applications to the music department explaining the summer school they would like to attend and giving details of how they feel this experience will benefit them with regards to the development of musical skills.

Submissions must be made by the end of the Lent Term in each academic year.
